Correspondence of The Tribune.

PASSE, Aug. 15, 1845.

Since my last letter, few incidents have occurred in our worth attending to. The fashionables are out of town, the ministers are at watering places, and the principal articles of the Journals are without interest.

Toulon has been the scene of a fire which devoured a large portion of the timber collected there during the last twenty years. Several buildings have fallen a prey to the flames, supposed to have been lit by the prisoners. The loss is estimated at two and a half millions of francs in timber and one million in buildings.

The loss is far more important than the official value indicates. A large portion of the timber was composed of "Knees," suitable for ships of the line, and which are very difficult to obtain. For a time it was thought that the houses containing five of the vessels on the stocks, would have fallen a prey to the flames. Fortunately however, the wind changed and prevented their destruction.

Under these vessels a man was killed in endeavoring to light some tow under them. The saw mill recently erected at an immense cost though in imminent danger was saved. Under the circumstances and the fact of an explosion of the powder mills excluded suspicion. The crews of the steamers, the soldiers and the officers of the garrison, in all a force of one thousand, succeeded in checking the conflagration.

The heat was intense. A solid mass of timber enclosing thirty two thousand square yards was in flame at the same moment, and it required almost superhuman efforts to prevent the loss of the saw mill and shipping. Some of the prisoners took an active part in endeavoring to save the materials.

Afraid the loss was estimated at six millions and even as high as thirteen millions. The official value limits it at five.

A trial was performed in the Mayor's office of Mr. Lefebvre, St. German under peculiar circumstances a few days ago. A student ran away with his daughter to his family and by his subsequent violent conduct exposed himself to a severe punishment.

The student's wife, a young girl, the young man sought to make amends for his conduct by exposing its depths. A marriage was arranged and both parties left home by different doors determined never to see each other again.

In France divorce is not permitted; the parties can only be dissolved by the death of one of the partners.

In the month of July the Arabs who had been taken prisoner at Magdala by the French last year, were sold in the town as promised by the treaty which the Emperor has ratified. Twenty thousand persons were assembled on the beach to hold the return of their 120 missing men.

The number of these vessels is now estimated at over six thousand. The tonnage of these vessels is estimated at three millions. In 1844 there passed 4,605 English vessels, 3,787 Norwegian and Swedish, 2,979 Prussian, Hanoverian and Mecklenburgs, 2,005 Dutch, 1,830 Russian, 736 French, 426 American.

The number of the French vessels passing by the different colonies will be known by the committees in press and the authorities.

The Minister of Public Instruction who is Grand Master of the University delivered an address. The number of pupils attached to these colleges is over six thousand. Today the streets of the "Quartier Latin" look gay, for you see gay faces—young men and women, students carrying the presents made under their arms.

The reduction of the Sound dues exacted by Denmark on vessels passing the straits has again occupied public attention. I have added to my previous article on the subject.

The amount of revenue now received is about eight hundred thousand francs. This rate of duty represents a sacrifice in excess of nine and a half millions of francs. In 1844 there passed the Sound 17,333 vessels of which 5,963 were from the North Sea, and 11,370 from the Baltic.

The tonnage of these vessels is now estimated at over six thousand. The tolls are now reduced to 100 millas per tonne.

The King and Queen of the Belgians and a legion of Princes have welcomed her arrival. These pleasure trips are attended with excellent results national prevalence and great interest.

An act of war was now made to a small number of the French troops who had been sent to the coast of the Rhine to assist the Duke of Wellington.

The King and Queen of Prussia are now married. The Duke of Wellington has arrived at Bordeaux where he will be received. This trip has been undertaken for the purpose of increasing his popularity.
